

COMMENTS

Pursuant to the telephone conversation of March 18, 2005 with Examiner Benjamin Layno, the undersigned stated that an amendment under Rule 312 with the above changes would be submitted and that such an amendment would be acted thereon in due course.

It is to be noted that in the telephone interview of January 6, 2005, it was agreed that certain changes would make the application allowable (Examiner's Amendment). Applicant has reviewed these changes and has made the following remarks: -- The players do not have any "secret code identifiers" - the "identifiers" are in the possession and control of the game controller. The Game includes "identifiers" which the game controller refers to. The game controller announces the "secret code" having identified which one is selected; players check for the "secret code" and not the "identifer". In essence, the applicant considers the word "identifier" should be deleted. The above amendments to the pending claims are directed to this matter.

No new subject matter is deemed included by this amendment under Rule 312.
